

Kaitlin Alegria is the Protection Order Project Attorney at the Kansas Coalition Against Sexual and Domestic Violence (KCSDV). In her current role, she provides technical assistance and statewide trainings to domestic and sexual violence program advocates, attorneys, and other allied professionals relating to issues of protection orders. She provides some limited representation to victims in Kansas protection order cases as well as researches and writes legal memoranda addressing legal issues that may have an impact on protection order cases. Kaitlin graduated from Washburn University School of Law in May of 2015. While attending Washburn Law, she interned for Kansas Legal Services (KLS) providing legal representation to victims of sexual and domestic violence in both protection order and family law cases. She also obtained her Family Law Certificate while at Washburn Law, certifying that she had a strong emphasis in family law courses. She is licensed to practice in Kansas.
